Centennial Dam Watchdog Activist Summit Tonight

Posted: Mar. 13, 2017 9:09 AM PDT

A couple hundred people concerned about the Nevada Irrigation District's proposed Centennial Reservoir project on the Bear River will be in Nevada City this evening as part of a forum on the subject. The South Yuba River Citizens League is holding what they are calling the Centennial Dam Watchdog Activist Summit. SYRCL Executive Director Caleb Dardick explains what that means...

Dardick will be on the panel, along with a couple of other SYRCL officers. There will also be representatives from the Nevada City Rancheria Tribal Council, Sierra Streams Institute, and American River Watershed Institute. There will be a panel discussion followed by a question-and-answer session. Dardick says this is a follow-up to an N-I-D meeting earlier this month, where many people were opposed to the project...
