SYRCL Downplays Salmon Revival Reports

Posted: Mar. 22, 2016 12:20 PM PDT

Recent comments from water and wildlife officials that the winter Chinook salmon population could significantly improve from the colder and wetter winter are being downplayed by the South Yuba River Citizens League. With levels at Oroville and Shasta reservoirs at their highest in the last two years, that means higher river releases, with colder water. But SYRCL fish biologist Gary Reedy says that won't make up for what he says have been inadequate dam releases over the years and widespread habitat destruction...
