

Wild and Scenic Film Festival kicks off 16th year (VIDEO)

The Union staff
January 12, 2018

Share \(15\) Tweet Comments \(0\) Email Print +

3 / 8

Hide Caption

Elias Funez/efunez@theunion.com |

The title of the 16th annual Wild and Scenic Film Festival is "Groundswell."

The 16th annual Wild and Scenic Film Festival kicked off Friday night to much buzz and fanfare with a free opening reception at Nevada City Winery.

The 16th annual Wild and Scenic Film Festival kicked off Friday night to much buzz and fanfare with a free opening reception at Nevada City Winery.

Attendees sipped on wine and munched on snacks while rubbing elbows with some of the festival's biggest stars, the filmmakers themselves, who were being interviewed live by Elisa Parker of See Jane Do.

The festival continues through Jan. 15 featuring workshops, art, music, inspiration, and environmental and adventure films.

For a full program of events, visit <http://www.wildandscenicfilmfestival.org>.

INTERVIEW: "Redefining Prosperity" premieres at Wild & Scenic Film Festival. Editor Brian Hamilton talks with producer Jennifer Ekstrom and SYRCL founding president Dr. Roger Hicks.

